THE CURRICULUM

Osgoode Professional Development's various LLM specializations provide graduate level learning across a number of disciplines. In the two-year Part-time General LLM, you will choose courses from any of our available specializations during your time of study, and have the flexibility to complete the program according to your schedule.

Degree Requirements

- Option I
 - 30 credits of coursework chosen from the specializations offered during your period of enrollment in the program;
 - Advanced Legal Research Workshop [GSLaw 6101][1 credit]; and
 - An independent Major Research Paper (70 pages).

- Option II
 - 36 credits of coursework chosen from the specializations offered during your period of enrollment in the program; and
 - A significant research paper (30 pages) completed for one of the courses.

Students in the General LLM must make their course selection in consultation with the Program Director. Not every course will be available in any given semester due to the fact that our specializations are not offered annually.
