

Rankings for Osgoode Hall Law School of York University

Maclean's Magazine 2010 Law School Ranking — Osgoode is #2.

Canada's law schools were evaluated according to four measures of student/graduate quality, worth 50 per cent, and one measure of faculty quality, worth 50 per cent. All measures were calculated relative to the size of each school. Elite Firm Hiring is worth 20 per cent; National Reach a measure of how widely employed a school's graduates are, and Supreme Court Clerkships are each weighted at 10 per cent. Faculty Hiring is worth 10 per cent and looks at how many grads were hired as law faculty members, with extra weight given to those hired by faculties other than their alma mater. Faculty Citations is a measure assessing how often academics cite each school's professors.
