Osgoode celebrates 30 years of the LLM in Taxation Law

On May 25, OsgoodePD marked a memorable event celebrating Taxation Law and its legacy of excellence. The passion and enthusiasm of the attendees was a clear testament to the profound impact that the program has had on the lives and careers of its graduates. Jinyan Li, founding and current program directors, kicked-off the event. The celebratory evening paid tribute to the LLM in Taxation Law.

Scott Wilkie and the program staff were delighted to host the LLM in Taxation Law's 30th anniversary celebration. The program has been pivotal in helping students find their own way into the legal profession. It has been a 20- to 30-year project, forcing them to work in the shadow of hardship due to the realities of a rapidly changing environment.

The panel will also share their reflections on strategies to employ, hard evidence, and advocacy style and strategy. The panel members include:

- Justice Patrice Band, former Chief Judge of the Ontario Court of Justice (OCJ), and Justice P. Tamara (SCJ), and Justice T. Farrow (formerly SCC), and Justice P. Tamara (SCJ), will discuss the coming-of-age process for Public Private Partnerships (P3s) and how such projects face challenges.

The program has proven turbulent. Many private sector players have struggled with getting the project done within the rigid structure of a traditional P3 model that typically thrives on up-front monies to ensure the project is on track. The coming-of-age process for P3s will bring a new, more measured perspective to the program, and how it brings some uneasy moments for the next wave of professionals who will enter the industry.
